

Notre Dame Mission Volunteers firmly stands on the belief that the violence of racism has no place in our society, yet we see it occur in many settings including education, healthcare, housing, and the justice system.

We join the many voices, including our founders, as we call for justice for George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, and so many others. We stand in solidarity with those in our community, especially those who are directly impacted by systemic racism.

As a community, we will dig deep for wisdom and healing as we support children in schools and the leaders who will work toward a more just and equitable society.
